Relja Ivanić

Nakon završenih studija na Arhitektonskom fakultetu Univerziteta u Beogradu (2011), Relja Ivanić se specijalizovao za arhitektonsku fotografiju i jedan je od retkih u Srbiji koji su se posvetili toj disciplini. U ranoj fazi svoje karijere, sa kolegom sa studija Kostom Mijićem, Relja osniva portal za arhitekturu i kulturu prostora Super Prostor, preko kog prikuplja i prikazuje vrednosti u savremenoj arhitekturi Srbije i regiona. Sarađivao je sa zvučnim institucijama i kompanijama kao što su Microsoft, Price Waterhouse Cooper, Siemens, Galerija Matice srpske, Muzej (istorije) Jugoslavije, Muzej savremene umetnosti u Beogradu, Društvo arhitekata Novog Sada, Njujork Tajms, kao i velikim brojem istaknutih arhitekata u Srbiji I regionu.

Relja Ivanić

Upon completing his studies at the Faculty of Architecture in Belgrade (2011), Relja Ivanić started specialising in architectural photography, and he is one of rare architects in Serbia who dedicated themselves to this discipline. In the early stage of his career, along with his fellow student Kosta Mijić, Relja founded a portal for architecture and culture of space called “Super Prostor”. Through this portal he collects and displays values in the contemporary architecture of Serbia and the region. He collaborated with famous institutions and companies, such as Microsoft, Price Waterhouse Cooper, Siemens, the Gallery of Matica Srpska, the Museum of Yugoslav History, the Museum of Contemporary Art in Belgrade, Association of Novi Sad Architects, the New York Times, as well as with a great number of prominent architects in Serbia and the region.

Natalija Miodragović
Polazna tačka za interdisciplinarnu i eksperimentalnu radu Natalije Miodragović su umetnost i arhitektura kao mogući pokretači promena u društvu. Radi u saradnji sa umetnicima i naučnicima i u akademskom istraživanju (tekstilne tehnike u arhitekturi). Diplomirala je na Arhitektonskom fakultetu u Beogradu 1998. Natalija Miodragović
The starting point for the interdisciplinary and experimental works by Natalija Miodragović are art and architecture as possible drivers of social change. She works in collaboration with artists and scientists, and is engaged in the field of academic research (Textile Techniques in Architecture). She graduated from the Faculty of Architecture in Belgrade in 1998. She is a lecturer at the Institute for Architecture-related Art (Institut für Architekturbezogene Kunst), Technical University of Braunschweig, and at the

Textile and Surface Design Department, Weissensee Academy of Art (KHB Weissensee) in Berlin. Being an architect and art architect, she was also an author and co-author of numerous projects, such as the Organ for the Zion Church in Berlin in 2019, the Serbian Pavilion “City Code” for EXPO 2010 in Shanghai, and “Art and Architecture Lighter than Air” from 2002 to 2015. |Žiri konstatuje, da je ove godine, uprkos odsustvu velikih javnih projekata i urbanističkih rešanja, na Salonu bilo puno kvalitetnih radova koji su obradili široki spektar važnih tema.

Žiri je kroz konstruktivan rad doneo jednoglasnu odluku i odabrao projekte koji su po obimu mali, ali kvalitativno značajni. Pisana reč o arhitekturi bila je zastupljena sa velikim brojem raznolikih dela, od monumentalne monografije do istorije i teorije arhitekture. Nagrađeni projekti su različitih tipologija, od kuća za odmor, obrazovnog centra, malog muzeja i stana, te dva veća objekta poslovnog i industrijskog sadržaja. Sve nagrađene arhitekture bave se pitanjima sadržaja i odgovaraju na savremene tendencije u tim tipologijama. Nagrađeni radovi nude alternative unutar zadatah programa i na taj način stvaraju rešenja koja generišu pozitivne promene u neposrednom prostornom okruženju i društvu.

Nagrada nije dodeljena u kategoriji urbanizam, jer u toj oblasti nije bilo selektovanih radova. Isto tako, nije bilo nagrade u kategoriji eksperimenat, ali je žiri prepoznao visok nivo uticaja eksperimentalnih istraživanja u radovima koje je nagradio.

|Report of the Jury of the 41st Salon of Architecture

The Jury of the 41st Salon of Architecture, consisting of:
Jurij Sadar, Chairperson
Relja Ivanić
Natalija Miodragović
Dejan Todorović
Zlata Vuksanović Macura,

|hereby concludes that this year the Salon has hosted a large number of quality works dealing with a wide range of important issues, despite the fact that major public projects and urban designs have not been present at the exhibition.

The result of the Jury's constructive work is its unanimous decision to select the projects that are small in their size, but significant in their quality. The written word about architecture has been present with a large number of diverse works – from a monumental monograph to the history and theory of architecture. The awarded projects are of various typologies, ranging from holiday houses, an educational centre, a small museum and an apartment to two large business and industrial facilities. All of the award-winning architectures deal with the issues of content and respond to contemporary trends within these typologies. The awarded works offer alternatives within the specified programmes, and thus create designs that generate positive changes in the immediate spatial environment and in society.

The award has not been given within the Urban Planning category as there were no works selected in this field. Likewise, there has been no award within the Experiment category, but the Jury has recognised a high level of influence of experimental research in the works it has rewarded.

|The Jury awards the following prizes:

| Nagradu u kategoriji Arhitektura dodeljuje autorima Goranu Vojvodić i Jeleni Ivanović Vojvodić za realizovano delo Poslovni objekat Roaming Group u Beogradu

| Award within the Category Architecture goes to the authors Goran Vojvodić and Jelena Ivanović Vojvodić for the realised project Business Facility Roaming Group in Belgrade

| Zgrada u Južnom bulevaru u funkciju stavlja dugo godina zapuštenu građevinu, pri čemu svojim izgledom generiše kontrapunkt prethodnom stanju, pružajući novi kvalitet okruženju u kome se nalazi. Kolonade u prizemlju ostvaruju odnos sa nivoom ulice, a reflektivne površine viših spratova komuniciraju sa širom okolinom.

| A building in South Boulevard puts a long-forgotten construction into operation, and with its appearance, it generates a counterpoint to the previous state, providing a new quality to the environment it is located in. The arcades on the ground floor create a relation with the level of the street, whereas the reflective areas of the upper floors communicate with the wider environment.
