PREFACE

In questionability on relation between the exhibited works and the moment in which they are created, the catalogue sums up the impressions tending to find answer and meaning visually explaining relations between artworks and main subject of the conference.

The catalogue, as a moderator between audience and authors, gives us an overview of the artworks and offers a new reading of the established themes. Each of the themes is taking its place in well-structured chapters affirming a good opportunity for discussion and new revision.

Focus on the future, often as the only guide, motive and meaning for artists, becomes a boundless position from which we can research and consider new challenges in the sphere of phenomenology, architecture, technology and art.

Thus exhibited, the works are not visually presented in forefront, but rather by the way illustrated they significantly affirm seemingly invisible relation between artists (authors) and topics they are focused on.

The exhibition of this year's conference is presenting 46 selected works structured within five chapters under main theme FACING THE FUTURE – NEW CHALLENGES.

The exhibition, with selected works and setting provokes and initiates the question of limitless future in which it could be possible to perceive the reality from a perspective of new challenges as one type of methodological approach in the process of creating an artwork.

The catalogue in its form can also be perceived as an instruction or guide for reading individual interpretations of the authors demonstrated in context of the theme and elements of future as they experience it at this moment.

ARCHITECTURE AND ART

INTERIOR DESIGN

- Design: Interior, Architecture and Urban Design
- Architecture and Art: Spatial Installations
- Art as Inspiration

TRI NOVE APARTMENT

The main conceptual idea arose from the intention to open the kitchen towards the living area and make it a main motif of the apartment. Opposite to the kitchen's open structure, surrounding the sanitary block lies solid continual storage and display element.

Applied materials are reduced to ash wood, terrazzo, and plain surfaces accented with black and brushed steel details, aiming to make different atmospheric feels in different lighting regimes.
